When the April Grand Jury of Kings County appears before Judge Moore in the Court of Sessions, on Thursday, four indictments will be filed, three of which have been found against ex-them in.

W. D. Lohmann will also be arraigned with the other prisoners.

Gill and Snedeker are almost as prominent in financial circles of Brooklyn as Keeney.

Gill is a well-known contractor and Snedeker a director in the Union Elevated Railroad.

The maximum punishment for the offense of the bankers in case of a sonviction is one year and $500 fine.

DE VITO'S CASE ADJOURNED.

If Acquitted, the United States

Grand Jury May Take Action.

Argument on the demurrer to the indictment of, Vincenzo De Vito, of 83 Mulberry street, whose traffic in fraudulent naturalization papers was exposed by The Evening World," was adjourned this morning in the Court of Sessions of Kings County at the request of Assistant District-Attorney Clarke. The case was set down for Wednesday morning at 11 of clock.

There has been but one case like that of De Vito in the records of the courts of the State. In 1857 Patrick Sweetman was convicted of perjury by the Court of Sessions of the State. In 1857 Patrick Sweetman was convicted of perjury by the Courts of Lewis County in procuring the fraudulent naturalization of James Callilay for whom he appeared as witness.

An appeal was taken and the General Term reversed the decision of the County Court of Lewis County Court was acting as agent of the Government, and was therefore for a time a tribunal of the United States.

A large delegation of property-owners from the Eighth and Twenty-sixth Wards called upon Mayor Schleren at his office in the Brooklyn City Hall this morning and asked him to veto the resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen granting a franchise to the South Brooklyn Terminal Company to construct a railroad from the Thirty-ninth street ferry to East New York. The delegation was headed by Lawyer Shanks, while President J. W. Ambrose, Lawyer A. L. Johnson and Engineer Meserole looked after the interests of the Company.

Mr. Darling, a real-estate operator, who spoke for the owners of upward of 2,000 lots situated in the Twenty-sixth Ward, told the Mayor that he would withdraw his objections if the Company would agree to construct its lines south of the proposed route. It is proposed to lay the road between Surler and Blake avenues. If the line was located further south, said Mr. Darling, it would be unnecessary to depress the treaks.

"Why, you are dead!" screamed Mrs. Marc..

"Shake hands with me and see," replied Mrs. Borowiak, advancing. Mrs. March endeavored to ward her off, and then fell fainting to the ground. She was revived after some difficulty, and finally was convinced that her friend had not been hurt.

It seems that last evening Mrs. Borowiak decided to spend the night at her sister's house and left her own home about $5 o'clock. At the corner of Graham and Montrose avenues she met Mrs. Braunschweiger, whom she has known for years. Mrs. Braunschweiger had rooms at 1235 Flushing avenue, but she was rather an eccentric character, and often stayed away for days at a time. She did not want to go home last night, and finally Mrs. Borowiak gave her the keys to the flat and told her to stay there all night.

"I have often done so before." said Mrs. Borowiak to an "Evening World" reporter this morning, "and she never did me any harm. It is true she was in an insane asylum for seven years, but she always appeared to me to be harmless."

The work of remodelling the two cruisers has been delayed for a number of weeks owing to the lack of material, but now the naval designers are only waiting for the cruiser Cincinnati to come out of the dry dock, when the two vessels will be cut in two and a piece inserted in the hulls amidships.

Orders have been received from Washington to push the work on the Castine and Machias towards completion, and in consequence many of the men recently discharged from the Brooklyn Navy-Yard will be reinstated or a new force employed.

It was said to-day that the men engaged on the work of the two cruisers would probably be kept busy until August.

SAFE FALLS 130 FEET. Crashes Down Twelve Stories at Nassau and John Streets. Workmen Raising It Flee and Only One Is Hurt.

Burke Stepped Off the Safe an Instant Before.

A 5,000-pound iron safe, which was being hoinsted to the top floor of the new Sheldon Building, at Nassau and John streets, fell just after I o'clock this af ternoon from the twelfth floor, a dis tance of about 30 feet, with a crash that shook the buildings for a block around.

The accident was caused by the break ing of the windlass on the truck by which the safe was being raised. The tackle was rigged in the elevator shaft inside the building, and the safe struck the basement floor at the foot of the shaft. It was almost a miracle that no onwas killed. The only person hurt was Frank May, one of the movers, who was in the wagon outside in Nassau street, helping at the windless. The breaking of one of the cogs let the safe go, and as it neared the bottom of the shaft the windlass on the track which was revolving like a buzz-say parted and one of the pieces struck May on his left elbow, causing a compound dislocation, and then struck his left leg bruising it badly. He was standing on the truck at the time and was knocked into the street by the force of the blow. His companthey saw it was impossible to check the went through the plate-glass windows in the safe dropped. In its downward course the safe crashed against the sides of the elevator and tore away all the iron work casing below the

A dense cloud of dust burst from the Nassau street door of the building as the safe struck the bottom of the shaft People in the neighboring buildings rushed from their stores and offices in alarm, thinking that the new building was caving in, and a crowd of 500 or 60 excited people gathered in the street. It was rumored at first taht five or six men had been killed.

An ambulance was sent out, and it was soon ascertained that no one but May had been hurt. He was taken to the Chamber's Street Hospital. Ambulance Surgeon Taylor said that his injuries were not serious.

The safe belonged to the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company, and was being moved by ForemaPn Smith, who is in the employ of the Company. He said that the windlass gearing probably got heated by the long hoist, and one of the cog wheels holding the drum had given way. Several peoplie who were passing by the street at the time narrowly escaped being struck by the flyingplece from the truck just as the crash of curred.

The highly decorated "lady vocalists," as they used to be styled by the proprietors of the concert halls, stood outside of the dives in long skirts. Chief Eustice had notified the proprietors of the dives that the women must war long dresses while "doing their turns" on the stage and outside, and that under no circumstances would they be allowed to circulate among the patrons and "order drinks on a percentage."

In one respect, however, the Brooklyn officials may make a radical change, and that is regarding the observance of the Sunday Excise law.

Yesterday any of the 35,000 persons who visited the island could procure all the beer he could pay for. The famous "Rossebud" whiskey was sold without any attempt at secrecy.
